2019 MALBEC

Bradford Mountain Estate Vineyard
Dry Creek Valley, Sonoma County

Jamie Peterson's Vintaged Views & Vineyard Notes

We planted our Malbec block in 2008, with very little prior experience growing or making it. The couple hundred vines that grow alongside the Cabernet Franc and Merlot on our Bradford Mountain Estate Vineyard were planted to produce just enough wine to be a blending component in our Bordeaux varietal blends.

Some years like 2019, the vines produce an abundance of juicy, ripe, deep purple berries, and we're blessed with the opportunity to produce a varietal bottling of Malbec.

This limited production palate pleaser is one of our Wine Club only wines.

Tasting Notes

Subtle aromatics of ripe mulberry and boysenberry merge with hints of the wine's structure and a dusty tannin essence. A smooth entry and round mouthfeel deliver a delicious blend of blackberry, bright cherry, black raspberry, pomegranate and red plum. Mocha and vanilla with traces of minerality and fine herbs appear mid-palate, along with integrated tannins and oak. Opulent and seductive, this wine goes down so easily, you might be surprised when your glass is empty and you're longing for more.

Try pairing with sausage and blue cheese stuffed portabella mushrooms, or grilled lamb chops with pomegranate molasses and white beans.
